

Ebsco's Religion & Philosophy Collection : a quick guide

Ebsco's Religion & Philosophy Collection is a full text database of over 300 online journals. You can use it to view and print specific articles, or you can search the database for articles on particular topics.

Main features

The basic search – enter a keyword or phrase

The advanced search – enter keywords or phrases and select a field

Click on PDF Full Text to view the full text of an article

Click on Subjects to browse the Subject Headings index

Click on Publications to locate a specific article

Click on More to browse other indexes e.g. the Author index

Limit your search:

- by year of publication
- to peer reviewed journals
- to a particular journal title
- to a particular document type e.g. book reviews
- to articles indexed with a particular Subject Heading

You can also:

- save articles to a folder – click on Add to folder
- print, e-mail, or save results
- sign in to your personal account to save results for future use and set up email alerts – click on Sign in

Ranking

The results of your search will be ranked by relevance (calculated by Ebsco according to various criteria). But you can change the order in which the results are listed by clicking on Relevance Sort and selecting from a range of options including Date and Author.

Help

Note the Help option in the top right hand corner of the screen. Here you will find some excellent help sheets on every aspect of Ebsco.